

Persons Who Test Positive for COVID-19 (Isolation)	Recommended Action
If you have tested positive for COVID, you will need to isolate regardless of vaccination status or lack of symptoms.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Stay home for at least 5 days. • Isolation can end after Day 5 if symptoms are not present or are resolving and a diagnostic test (antigen preferred) is negative. • If unable to test or choose not to test, it is best to isolate through Day 10. • If fever is present, isolation should continue until fever has resolved for at least 24 hours (without the use of fever-reducing medications, such as Tylenol/ibuprofen). • If other symptoms are not resolving, continue to isolate until symptoms are resolving or until after Day 10. • Wear a well-fitting mask around others for a total of 10 days, especially in indoor settings (see masking guidance below for additional information). • Contact your medical provider to see if you are at high risk for severe COVID disease and qualify for COVID treatments. You can learn more at https://covid-19.acgov.org/antibody-treatment

Note:

The guidelines above reflect the most recent recommendations by CDC and CDPH (California Department of Public Health). They are available to you as an option, though risk of transmission may exist past 5 days. Isolating away from others for 10 days continues to be the safest option.

Masking Guidance:

Wearing a well-fitting mask is essential to protecting others through 10 days after your infection starts. You can learn more information on how to get the most protection from masks at <https://www.cdph.ca.gov/Programs/CID/DCDC/Pages/COVID-19/Get-the-Most-out-of-Masking.aspx>

Are you a close contact?

You are a close contact if you share the same indoor air with someone who has COVID-19 for 15 minutes or more within 24 hours.

If You Have Been Exposed to COVID-19 (Close Contact)	Actions to Protect Others
If you have been exposed to someone who has COVID-19, you do NOT have to quarantine. However, if you develop symptoms of illness, isolate immediately and test for COVID-19! Exposed means sharing the same indoor air for 15 minutes total over a 24-hour period. (Example: 3 different, 5-minute encounters equal a 15-minute exposure.) If you have COVID-19, you can start to spread the virus 2 days before you start to feel any symptoms such as cough, sore throat, diarrhea, fatigue, or headache (or 2 days before your positive test was taken, if you never feel sick).	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Take a COVID-19 test 3 to 5 days after being exposed. • Wear a well-fitting mask around others for 10 days, especially indoors. • Monitor yourself closely for symptoms for 10 days. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • If you develop symptoms, stay home and away from others until you can take a COVID-19 test. If your first test is negative, wait 24 to 48 hours and take another test since some people with COVID-19 don't test positive right away. • If your COVID-19 test is positive, follow isolation guidance: https://bit.ly/AC-C19 • People who live, work, or visit places that are high-risk for severe COVID-19 spread or have vulnerable populations (example: nursing homes, jails, homeless shelters) should follow additional guidance from the facility.

Note: While you are not required to quarantine, consider avoiding people at high-risk for severe COVID-19 disease for 10 days such as: older adults, people living with chronic conditions, those with conditions that weaken their immune system, and people who are unvaccinated.
